

Thanksgiving – Is a Core of Our Rehabilitation Programs

The traditional Thanksgiving celebration began as an observance to show thanks for the autumn harvest and the many blessings the first settlers identified to be thankful for.

In the context of the specialized rehabilitation programs that we provide across all lines of business, we have extraordinary teams of clinicians who “give” to our patients every day. The care giving we provide to our patients which assists them to re-gain their independence and/or improve their quality of life is a cause for significant thankfulness from our patients, their families, the organizations and communities we serve.

Rehabilitation clinicians are generally very humble and we do not do this work to be thanked. None the less, we know our patients are thankful for the caring, compassionate, expert services they receive from our clinicians.

As we prepare to celebrate this special holiday focusing on Thanksgiving, we are fortunate to work in an industry that allows us to provide care and compassion to our patients and families and give back to the community daily. Kindred is thankful for all of our clinicians and support staff who work tirelessly every day.

Thank you for all you do. Have a safe blessed holiday wherever you are to celebrate.
